HUNTING SAFARI

SOUTH AFRICA

Hunting Safari South Africa has the expertise and infrastructure to make your African hunting safari an unforgettable one! Whether you are interested in the Big Five or Plains Game hunting, it promises to be a thrilling experience.

Your hunt will be exclusive, unhurried and customised to your personal requirements. Our family-owned property spans a massive area in excess of 42,000 acres and is situated in the majestic Limpopo province in northern South Africa. The mighty Limpopo River forms the border with Botswana on the northern side of the ranch, with the Palala River also flowing through the hunting expanse. These rivers draw in a myriad of bird life as well as providing picturesque water holes where hunters are able to spot prized trophies. Our hunting concession has been declared a malaria free zone, thus making it safe to visit all year round.

We are considered as highly knowledgeable in all aspects of hunting including rifle, bow, eco and muzzle loaders and are proficient in judging size as well as tracking game. Our experienced Professional Hunters will guide you through the terrain, searching for your dream trophy.

Accommodation options vary depending on your particular preference ranging from a rustic tented facility, to upmarket lodges with a host of activities to keep you and the non-hunters in your party occupied and entertained.

No request is too large for our team - from the moment you arrive, throughout your stay, we seek to provide exceptional customer service and look forward to sharing the magic of an African hunt with you.

HUNTING SAFARI

TYPICAL DAY ON SAFARI

Hunters: Your hunting experience starts at the break of dawn. Fuel up with a cup of coffee and rusks or perhaps a more substantial selection of breakfast cereals, yogurt and juice, before setting out on your safari.

The morning hunt runs until approximately 11h00, at which time we return to the lodge for brunch. After brunch, relax at the lodge, take a dip in the pool or just enjoy the beautiful surroundings. The hunt resumes approximately 14h30 and will continue until sunset.

Our hunting methods consist of either walking and stalking or hunting from blinds or special vantage points from which we ambush animals, depending on your preference. You can also opt to hunt from one of our well-equipped vehicles should you have any medical condition or are limited by not being able to walk long distances. Your Professional Hunter will discuss these options with you upon arrival.

Observer: Your guests are welcome to accompany and observe the hunters on safari or simply relax at the lodge. Should the guests in your group be interested in visiting some of the highlights in the area while the hunters are in the field, this can be arranged at an additional charge. Please discuss these options with your Professional Hunter.

GAME SELECTION

Blesbuck favour areas where there are wide open plains. They are most common in the central and eastern parts of South Africa, where large herds are commonly found. Blesbok occur only in South Africa.

The Kudu is the most impressive of the horned antelope. Often described as majestic, these imposing antelope can be hunted in various areas across South Africa's wilderness areas.

The Blue Wildebeest, or brindled gnu, as he is otherwise known, is one of Africa's strangest looking animals. They occur in abundance in the thorn veld regions of South Africa and are popular trophy animals.

The Giant Oryx or Gemsbok, is a magnificent animal. He inhabits the open country and can survive in the harshest of conditions. A native of the Kalahari, he can go without surface water for months, absorbing moisture from what he eats.

This member of the Big Five is considered by some hunters as the most dangerous and has been given chilling nicknames such as 'the black death' and 'the widow maker'. Do not underestimate the Cape buffalo!

Roan antelope are South Africa's second largest antelope. When hunting Roan antelope, do not be under-gunned: the Roan is a heavy, tough, aggressive, and therefore potentially dangerous quarry.

The Giraffe is the largest ruminant and the tallest mammal on the planet. This tall 'drink of water' can top out at nearly 18 feet in the largest of males. Hunting giraffe can make for an extremely interesting and exciting stalk.

Sable are the most striking of all the African antelope and one of the top trophies in any hunter's mind. Their magnificent horns, contrasting colours and relative scarcity make them a highly desirable trophy animal.

Impala are gregarious antelope that occur in herds that range in size from a handful to a hundred or more. Lone territorial males will also be encountered, especially during rutting season.

Despite being somewhat different, Warthog trophies are very popular with safari clients. They can weigh up to two hundred and fifty pounds and it is advisable to always 'use enough gun' when hunting warthog.
